Dear Interviewer:

Who doesn’t love a good cookie? And when asked to pick a favorite cookie, who doesn’t mention chocolate chip, oatmeal raisin, or good ol’ sugar cookies? With the follow-up to her best-selling book Cookie Swap, Julia M. Usher’s Ultimate Cookies (November 2011; Gibbs Smith; $24.99), America’s doyenne of cookies shows us there’s a lot more out there than chocolate chip. Let Julia introduce you to new flavor combinations, luscious icings, easy-to-learn decorating techniques, and 43 awe-inspiring projects that will bring your cookies to a higher level.

With the holidays just around the corner, everyone is looking for delicious recipes and creative party and gift ideas that will impress family and friends – and Julia’s book is sure to provide endless inspiration. What’s more, Julia’s cookies are ideal presents in this time of continued belt-tightening. Not only do they taste incredible, but they also do double duty as beautiful decorations and centerpieces, eliminating the need for other expensive party décor. In Ultimate Cookies, Julia unveils every bit of the magic behind her edible works of art, making them approachable for everyone from novice to expert decorator. Here are just a few of her tricks that I thought would interest you most:

- Tools No Decorator Should Be Without: Julia pinpoints the must-have tools of the trade – such as parchment pastry cones, graduated cutter sets, silicone baking mats, non-tapered rolling pins, and small craft paintbrushes – and leads you to her favorite sources and brands.
- 7 Steps to Flawless Rolled Cookies: Julia shares her secrets to rolling, cutting, and baking the perfect cutout cookie time after time.
- 15 Bottom-to-Top Decorating Techniques: The book walks you through all of them; in an interview, Julia will demonstrate a few: top-coating, marbling, stenciling, wafer-papering, rubber-stamping, and/or dipping. Take your pick!
- The Icing on the Cookie: Once baked and iced, cookies are always better if bedazzled. Julia reveals her top timesavers: readymade decorations, such as sugar gems, confetti, crystallized flowers, pre-printed wafer paper, and more.
- Beyond Bedazzled: Learn how to make edible ribbons, bows, ropes, leaves, and even 3-D cookies to give your treats extra dimension – and class.
- Cookie U: After the basics are down, Julia teaches five themed master classes, each loaded with cookie projects that will wow:
  - Party Girl: Design a Jewel Box Gem so pretty that no one will want to eat it; then fill it with Pendant Perfect, At Your Fingertips, and other edible bling.
  - Incredible Edibles: Feast on Breakfast in Bed or cookie pasta. Or if you have a sweeter tooth, Take the Cake with beautiful “cakes” embellished with tasty touches of the season.
  - Where the Wild Things Are: Julia’s Turkey in the Straw makes an elegant centerpiece for a Thanksgiving table, whereas Lounge Lizards and Snake Charmer offer more whimsical table-top twists. Each can also be turned into a DIY party game.
  - So This Season: Send a sweet Valentine to your special someone with Love Letters in an Open Your Heart Box. Or offer up a cookie May Day or Easter Basket in springtime.
  - Yuletide Yummies: Snow Honeys, Boughs of Holly, Snow Globes, O Christmas Tree, and an edible Counting the Days advent calendar will bring holiday cheer to folks of all ages.
- How the Cookie Crumbles: Last but not least, Julia provides foolproof recipes for everything from sugar cookies and shortbread to macarons and meringues, and rounds them out with flavor variations and recipes for royal icing, ganache, and Italian buttercream.

I hope that you are now craving cookies more than ever. Please contact me to set up an interview with Julia M. Usher. I can be reached by phone at (212) 866-2906 or you can email me at ron@mmpublicity.com.

Cheers,

Suggested Interview Topics/Demonstrations:

NOTE: As described below, each of the following topics is designed to fit a short (3- to 4-minute) demo format. Each can also be adapted, if desired, to fit a longer (1/2- to 3- hour) hands-on or demo-style cooking class format.

1. Easy and Eye-Catching Decorating Techniques

Tired of the same old cookie swap-standbys? Julia will show you how to add pizzazz to holiday cookie plates by demonstrating two or more of the 15 Bottom-to-Top Decorating Techniques in her book. She’ll also provide gingerbread, royal icing, and seasonal sugar cookie variations for added flavor twists. Cookie shapes can be tailored to the season or holiday at hand, be it Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year’s, or Valentine’s Day.

Suggested techniques: Top-coating, as a necessary baseline; followed by marbling, stenciling, rubber-stamping, and/or wafer-papering, as these techniques are the most showy while still being very easy.

Suggested recipes (to supply, but not to demonstrate, unless requested): Royal Icing, Cut Cookie Gingerbread, and/or Signature Sugar Cookie Dough (with Anise, Cinnamon, Orange-Clove, and/or Lemon-Cardamom variations, as desired).

2. Sensational Seasonal Cookies

Worried that your holiday party will fall flat? Looking for that something extra to give your cookies a lift? Julia will show you how to make one or two of the simpler (yet still sensational) 3-D seasonal cookie projects in the book. Projects can be tailored to the season or holiday at hand, be it Thanksgiving, Christmas, or Valentine’s Day. Component recipes (i.e., rolled cookies and royal icing, as above) will also be supplied, though not demonstrated, unless requested.

Suggested projects: Turkey in the Straw for Thanksgiving; Counting the Days (advent calendar or ornament variation), Snow Globes, or Boughs of Holly (wreath or mistletoe kissing ball variation) for Christmas; Love Letters (and/or stenciled heart cookies with 3-D fondant appliqués) for Valentine’s Day.

3. Cookie Gifts for Kids

What better holiday or birthday gift than the license to play with your food?! Here, Julia shares the ins-and-outs of two of her favorite kids’ cookie projects, one for girls and another for boys. She also provides make-ahead tips and other ideas for effortlessly involving kids in the making of these cookie treats. Component recipes (i.e., rolled cookies and royal icing, as above) will also be supplied, though not demonstrated, unless requested.

Suggested projects: Pendant Perfect, At Your Fingertips (cookie rings) or Fab Bags (cookie handbags) for girls; Caterpillar Caper or Snake Charmer for boys.
Meet Julia M. Usher

Ever since sampling the dazzling pink daisy cookies at her first cookie swap, Julia has been a lover of all things sweet. As a young child, Julia cultivated her budding cooking skills by riding the apron strings of her mom – an accomplished home baker who ran a tight kitchen. “Make it from scratch or keep it out of your mouth” was her mother’s favorite mantra. By the age of 12 - while other kids were still tinkering with their Easy-Bake ovens - Julia was wowing friends and families with lavishly decorated yeast breads and multi-layer tortes. (Julia was also known on occasion to whip up a very lifelike soap and mud frosting cake for her sometimes pesky little sister.)

Julia worked as a mechanical engineer and management consultant after graduating from Yale in 1984, but even while climbing the corporate ladder, she never put aside her appetite for baking. In 1994, Julia decided to turn her passion into her profession by enrolling in the Cambridge School of Culinary Arts. She graduated valedictorian, receiving the coveted M.F.K. Fisher Prize for outstanding scholarship in 1996. One year later, Julia opened AzucArte, a boutique bakery widely lauded for its wedding cakes that tasted as wonderful as they looked. Julia now satisfies her sweet tooth with food writing and styling. She is Contributing Editor at Dessert Professional, a 2008 James Beard Foundation Journalism Awards finalist, and an entertaining consultant, party producer, and prop stylist for St. Louis AT HOME magazine. Her work, both written and edible, has appeared in Vera Wang on Weddings, Bon Appétit, Fine Cooking, Better Homes and Gardens, Mary Engelbreit’s Home Companion, Gastronomica, and nearly every national bridal magazine.

In 2009, Julia released her first book, Cookie Swap: Creative Treats to Share Throughout the Year, which subsequently won three prestigious Cordon d’Or Awards, including one for Best in Competition. Never one to rest on her laurels, Julia is now feverishly promoting her second book, Ultimate Cookies, an inspirational collection of edible cookie art projects, scheduled for release in November 2011.

When not baking, Julia serves as President-Elect of the International Association of Culinary Professionals. She is also a founding member of the St. Louis chapter of Les Dames d’Escoffier International and a three-time President of the St. Louis Culinary Society. In addition to her degree from Yale, Julia holds a master’s degree in mechanical engineering from the University of California, Berkeley, and an MBA from Stanford.
